Bobrick Expands Product Transparency with Environmental and Health Product Declarations for PRIVADA Cubicles

North Hollywood, C.A. — November 20, 2026 — Bobrick, a global leader in restroom accessories, partitions and accommodation solutions, has obtained an Environmental Product Declaration (EPD) and Health Product Declaration (HPD) for its PRIVADA® Cubicles. Both declarations are now available through the Sustainable Minds Transparency Catalog, giving architects and specifiers access to third-party verified information about the products' environmental impacts and material health characteristics.

As building project teams place greater emphasis on material transparency and environmental performance, access to standardized product documentation can help inform material selection and support green building certification efforts such as LEED. By making these declarations available through the Sustainable Minds Transparency Catalog, Bobrick gives design professionals a centralized resource for evaluating PRIVADA cubicles alongside other building materials.

“Architects and specifiers have a lot to consider when selecting products for a project, from aesthetics and performance to environmental impact and material health,” said Sean Hilgeman, RA, senior manager of design community engagement at Bobrick. “We want to give the design community the resources and information to evaluate our products with confidence.”

The EPD outlines the environmental impacts associated with PRIVADA cubicles across their life cycle, drawing on a third-party verified life cycle assessment. The HPD provides a standardized disclosure of product ingredients and associated health-related information, helping design professionals evaluate material transparency.
