NEW KOALA KB200 BABY CHANGING STATION PROVIDES A NEW LEVEL OF DESIGN, STABILITY AND COMFORT

October 9, 2009 – Centennial, CO – Koala Kare Products, Division of Bobrick, manufacturers and marketers of Baby Changing Stations and Child Seating products, has introduced their re-engineered and re-designed KB200 Baby Changing Station. Major features are all-new contemporary design and the Bear-of-a-Chassis™ able to hold a 200 pound static load. Engineered to provide virtually no deflection, the KB200 substantially improves safety and parental peace-of-mind.

“The heavy-duty, multi-point mounting chassis features 11-gauge steel unibody construction, and the changing station bed provides a smooth, seamless finish absent any sharp edges or pinch points for baby comfort and ease of cleaning,” stated General Manager, Brendan Cherry.

“Our new Changing Station also provides a Bobrick-keyed dual Bed Liner Dispenser. This is in response to research indicating parents’ desire for the sanitary cleanliness of bedliners available in public establishments as a part of their ‘family-friendly’ culture. The locked dispenser also shields all hardware from potential vandalism.

“KB200 represents a dramatic redesign of Baby Changing Stations incorporating contemporary styling, durability, stability and our exclusive, built-in antimicrobial - Microban® product protection which inhibits stains, odors and deterioration. Available in four colors, the KB200 is available with a new Earth-Tone version to meet contemporary interior design objectives. All models comply with ASTM and EN safety standards and contribute to LEED Certification. KB200 redefines the benefits of the family friendly culture for public establishments,” stated Director of Marketing, David Leigh.
